AIMS & ETHOS

Our aim is to provide a first-class all-round education through combining the best features of the single sex and co-educational systems. Pupils are encouraged to become well rounded individuals with open and enquiring minds who are confident in challenging their understanding.

The particular personal qualities we value, and foster are cheerful enthusiasm, appropriate self-confidence and good manners. We develop these by setting clear expectations and providing a very wide range of opportunities both in and out of the classroom. All our children are able to discover things they enjoy and can achieve success in. As a result, they become confident in 'having a go' without fear of failure and their determination to do their best, resilience and moral courage develops.

We believe this is the best preparation for future success and for leading a fulfilled life.
